HB 19: Military Families and Veterans

- HB 19 from the 84th Legislature outlines the requirements of the pilot. Department of Family and Protective Services (DFPS) is required to develop and implement a preventive services “pilot program” targeted to serve military families and veterans who have committed or experienced or who are at a high risk of family violence or child abuse and neglect.
 - This legislation requires DFPS to develop a comprehensive plan that:
 - Targets military communities in Texas with children ages 0-17,
 - Coordinate with community-based organizations to provide prevention services,
 - Collaboration with services for child welfare, early childhood education and other family service programs,
 - Evidence-based or promising practices.
 - Performance measures that gauge program effectiveness.
 - Public private collaboration that enhances state resources.

Support military families by empowering local military communities to build effective prevention services and partnerships, and offer the flexibility to choose the evidence-based programs that meet the needs of the local community.

DFPS wants to help fund what you would build in your community to support military families and ultimately prevent abuse and neglect and improve the well-being of children and families.

DFPS is interested in:

- Service providers who have an established history of providing services in the target area
- A balance between primary, secondary, and tertiary prevention strategies;
- Community level collaborations (use existing groups where possible);
- Data-driven strategic planning;
- Outcome-based evaluation;
- Leveraging private funding; and
- Sustainability

Military Families Pilot Program: Vision

An example of the variety of ideas to consider:

- Providing wrap-around case management services for military families and connecting them to community resources
 - Providing a vehicle for military families to strengthen social connections such as support groups or play groups
 - Evidence-based home visiting and parent education appropriate for the population
 - Innovative approaches to helping military parents and caregivers understand how transitions, separation and anxiety can affect their child's behavior
 - Activities to encourage appreciation of family's service
 - Using "ACES" to inform service delivery
 - Partnering with organizations to change community norms around healthy parenting and seeking community support.
 - Building a variety of programs to a well informed assessment and service-planning system of family support.
 - Participating in a multi-layered public-health model to support safe, stable, and nurturing relationships, such as Triple P.
